Green Haines Law Firm Launches Campaign for Working People New website, articles, billboards will be part of effort

YOUNGSTOWN — Green Haines Sgambati, LPA has launched an informational campaign designed to help working people with legal problems.

The campaign, developed jointly with Farris Marketing of Boardman, positions the well-known law firm as The Attorneys for Hard-Working People.

A new website, www.Green-Haines.com, is online and billboards are going up now. Informational newspaper columns under the title “Legal Matters” are seen Sundays in local newspapers.

Green Haines Sgambati focuses on Employment Law, Workers Compensation, Personal Injury, Medical Malpractice, Social Security Disability, Pension Rights and Domestic/Divorce Law. These practice areas are often a major concern of the rank and file, including service, labor and union workers.

Nationally recognized labor attorney Eugene Green founded Green Haines Sgambati in 1948. The firm has a team of 14 lawyers and other legal professionals serving clients from offices in downtown Youngstown, Austintown, East Liverpool and Ashtabula.

Farris Marketing is a Boardman-based full-service advertising, research, web development and public relations agency. Farris Marketing was founded in 1982.
